THE COTTON MARKET was again act. which is as follows: ive yesterday The telegrams were satinfactory, especially from Liverpool; it was observed, however, that the sales of fulu es in New York were limited, amenating to only 7200 bales. In our market there was a good inquiry, and superior grades were again firm, and medium qualities were in rather better Low grades were more easily busy cottons meet with very little attention, seiling at 10/milie generally, a though some nice staple got 11%c. The inquiry was very good, however, and roles amounted to 3200 bales, which amount, with 4300 the day before, making 7100 in the two days, was indicative of an active market-the best, in fact, since the month commenced. Stained cottons are selling readily, especially clean stains. The November crop re-ports are now coming in; we publish those of genuine importance to those interasted in cotton. It is well worth white to study every indication, and especially to note how the storms of the last wo or three weeks has affected the attitude of cotton. Speculators were active, taking 600 tales. Interior stock were telegraphed to cur cotton exchange at 107,093 baies. The official quotations of the Memphis cotton exchange were as follows:

Food ordinary... 145495 Middling fair.... The market closed firm; sales were 3200 bales, including 450 last evening, all which spinners took 1100 bales, exporters 1500 bales; specu-lators 600 tales. Dusty cottons quote 7@9le; stained, 10@11lc. Middling same COTTON STATEMENT.

The City of Augusta brought out of White river 430 bales cotton, 175 sacks cotton-seed, 29 hides, 5 head deer, 15 pgs sundries.

Levee Dots. Vicksburg complains of musquitoes yet. Departing packets yesterday had fine trips Business on the levee yesterday was not of the most active character.

The Phil Allin left snow an inch deep at Friars Point, and awful cold weather. The Osceola zelle was at Cairo yesterday. She will be here to-day. Look out for her. The towboat Oakland passed down last evening, going south with a large tow of coal. Captain O. P. Joplin was a passenger up on the Sie. Genevieve yesterday, on route to meet the sie. Genevieve yesterday, ar route to meet his new beat

The Ruth and Quickstep were both late getting into port yesterday evening, but both has good trips.

The rugged condition of the channel be-tween Cairo and St. Louis is playing hob-with steamboat interests.

The Vicksburg Herald says that the Mary Hell took on 380 bales cotton from the cars at Chicot in forty-six minutes.

The weather was too sweet to last long, and now we are promised another wet season for now we are promised another wet season for a change. Sic transit gloria mundi. They have commenced the cut-throat busi-ness in freight rates at St. Louis, in which the shipper, of course, is the only man made happy.

One hundred "tramps" took passage on the Belle St. Louis at calro for the cotton-fields below here, having been hired by planters to pick cotton.

Unein auti Enquirer, Wednesday: "We regret to announce the death of Mirs, Alice K. Gaugh, wife of Pilot Issae D. Gaugh, who died at her residence in Newport, Kentucky, Monday, after a lingering filiness, the result of a paralytic stroke some two years since. Mr. Gaugh is now on his way up from New Orleans at the wheel of the Thomas Sherlock.

Mr. Gaugh has our heartfelt sympathy in the loss of his estimable wife."

The present clear weather will soon dry up the mud, rendering the banks in better condition to hamile cotton and other freights. The scarcity of laborers, muddy banks, heavy fegs and rainy weather, coupled with the low rates of freights, have made steamboating, thus far in the season, anything el e but profitable. But there is a better time coming, we hope, for those who have employed their time, talents and capital in the later of Memphis commerce.

The story of the Arkansian who would not cover his house because it was not raighn. The story of the Arkansian who would not cover his house because it was not raining, and did not leak, was beautifully exemplified by the member of the board of aidermen, last night, in desiring to indefinitely postpone action on the bids to repair the wharf because there is a slight rise in the river. On the same principle, when the river gets down to the dead ine, he will want this body to take similar action, because there will not be as much need of a wharf, or some other equally untensible excuse. able excuse.
Sullivan, of the Vicksburg Herald, wants to spoll our new hat because we know a funny story about his recent visit to St. Louis Hear him: "Brooks, of the Memphis Appeal, had him: "Brooks, of the Memphis APPEAL, had a new hat presented him, accompanied by a long string of doggerel, selling forth the music of the Brooks, etc., and so on. Now, we feel able to mash that hat, with the head under it, and General Tracy is respectfully requested to act as our friend in the matter, and in our absence do the thing himself. He will deny the story of the goods boxes, and attest the moderity of the He ald river artist, and make the APPEAL take back that piece "Now, Jeems, we promised if you would hold still we would let you down easy; but if you get to rearing around in this kind of style, our scaled lips will be forced to open up, and the consequences might be a little embarrassing. However, if you think there is no bereafter, drive on.
